House Votes for Adjournment at 10 a.m. Thursday

Refuse To Extend Special Session To Consider Schools

Pass Senate Compromise Highway Audit Measure Wednesday

THE VOTE IS 44 TO 40

Audit Bill Gives Virtual Grand Jury Power to Commission

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—The house Wednesday passed the senate compromise highway audit bill, but refused to extend the special session for temporary school relief legislation and adopted a concurrent resolution for a sine die adjournment Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

The audit bill, granting virtual grand jury powers to the state highway audit commission in its investigation of the Highway Department, the Highway Commission and the Highway Board, was passed without a dissenting vote.

Long-Cyr Feud May Delay Road Work

Officials Fear Fight Over Governor's Chair Will Delay Bond Sale

NEW ORLEANS.—(P)—Huey P. Long Tuesday expressed confidence in his ability to hold the governor's chair against the challenge of his lieutenant governor, Paul N. Cyr, but other state officials openly admitted that the squabble over executive power might hold up a state bond sale and postpone highway construction.

Commenting for the first time on Cyr's ouster suit, filed at Shreveport, contending that Long could no longer act as governor after certifying his election to the United States Senate, Long said he would go to Shreveport in a few days to consult with lawyer friends.

"But there's not going to be much law to it," he said. "Dr. Cyr's suit will be dismissed for no cause of action, and that will end the matter."

At Baton Rouge, however, Chairman O. K. Allen of the Highway Commission told contractors assembled to bid on 400 miles of highways, that "this political fiasco, or rather this trouble with the lieutenant governor, will possibly interfere with the sale of bonds on November 2. I have no doubt but that it will."

The state is scheduled to sell a $5,000,000 block of its authorized $75,000,000 highway and bridge bond issue on that day, but Allen said that if the sale did not go through, work orders for contracts bid on now would have to be postponed until "possibly early in January."

Cyr, who has already taken the governor's oath on the contention that the executive chair was vacated when Long certified his election to the Senate, had no further comment.

Long, however, continued to discharge gubernatorial duties and appointed a state senator, Lester Hughes of Natchitoches, as a judge of the Second Circuit Court of Appeals in north Louisiana, to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Judge R. D. Webb, presiding justice.

Long also announced in New Orleans that the administration candidates for state offices, headed by O. K. Allen for governor, would qualify tomorrow, but would not start active campaigning until December 1.

Bulletins

GENEVA.—(P)—Japan renewed her insistence Wednesday that she cannot take her troops out of Manchuria until China provides definite assurance that the Japanese in Manchuria will be protected.

CLARKSVILLE.—(P)—Congressman Hearst Ragon was injured in an automobile accident near here early Wednesday, caused when a mule jumped in front of his car. Mr. Ragon suffered severe cuts about the face and one rib may be broken.

Thomas A. Edison Buried Wednesday

Thousands Invade Library of Inventor for Last View of Him

WEST ORANGE, N. J.—(P)—The last caravan is organized—Henry Ford, Harvey Firestone, Thomas A. Edison—and it will travel Wednesday to Edison's grave.

The two cronies of the famous inventor, who with him formed a triumvirate of travel and companionship, which became a symbol over the world arrived late Tuesday at the bier of Edison.

They, with the first lady of the land, will be among the close friends of the inventor, in a private funeral service at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Accompanied by Mrs. Edison, Ford and Firestone went to the library of the inventor where the inventor's body lay in a bronze coffin. The long line of men and women, running into thousands during the last two days, were halted while the party entered the building.

Moving directly to the coffin, Firestone leaned forward and gazed tensely at the face of his old friend, Mrs. Edison, dressed in deep mourning stood by his side.

"Ford did not enter the room. 'You remember the last time I saw him (Edison) in the library—how we talked together—well, I wanted that as a lasting memory,' he was quoted as telling Charles Edison, the inventor's son."

His reference apparently was to his visit at the Edison estate July 24 and 25, only a week before Edison collapsed.

Sheltered from the public who looked for the last time on Edison's face Tuesday night, relatives and friends will bow in a simple ritual Wednesday at Glenmont, the Edison home. After a service conducted by Rev. Stephen J. Herben, a friend of Edison and former pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Orange, the bronze coffin then will be borne to Rosedale cemetery at Orange for burial.

The funeral will be on the 52nd anniversary of Edison's perfection of the incandescent lamp.

So great was the crowd of mourners that the library of the laboratory was opened at 7:30 a. m. Tuesday, an hour and a half before it had been planned, and was kept open late in the evening.

Thomas Watkins Named Defendant in Two Suits

MEMPHIS.—(P)—Thomas R. Watkins, president of the Memphis Baseball Association, Tuesday was named defendant in two circuit court suits asking $30,000 damages.

The suits resulted from a collision between Watkins' automobile and the car of Mrs. Arthur L. Walker the night of September 10. Mrs. Walker asked $5000 for bodily injuries and damages to her automobile while a cousin, Miss Kate Scanlon, a passen-

Four Are Injured When Rock Island Passengers Collide

Engineer, Fireman, Porter and Steward Receive Injuries

ENGINE OVERTURNS

One Train Crashes Into Another as It Is Taking Siding

DANVILLE, Ark.—(P)—An engineer and fireman and two other railroad employees were injured, none seriously, in a collision of two Rock Island passenger trains at Danville, five miles west of here early Wednesday.

The west bound train, No. 111, crashed into the side of east bound train, No. 42, as the latter was taking a siding.

The locomotive of the former overturned and the engineer and fireman suffered slight injuries.

A negro porter and the dining car steward of the other train were also hurt.

Three of Wedding Party Met Death

Tragedy Occurs When Auto Overturns on Curve Near Benton

BENTON.—Three persons were killed and a fourth injured seriously in an automobile accident on Highway No. 9, about 14 miles north of Benton shortly before 6 Tuesday night.

The dead: Marion Baskins, aged 29, driver of the car; skull fracture and internal injuries.

Miss Vela Baskins, 20, sister of Marion; internal injuries.

Miss Lois Allison, 18, skull fracture.

The injured: Miss Leola Allison, 20, sister of Miss Lois Allison; internal injuries.

The party was en route to Perryville where Baskins and Miss Lois Allison were to have been married Tuesday night. They had spent the day on an outing near Hot Springs.

Baskins, driver of the automobile, was not familiar with the highway, it was said, and while rounding a sharp curve at a fast speed, he said to have applied the brakes suddenly, causing the car to turn over three or four times into a ditch. The car was a small coupe with a rumble seat.

Baskins and Miss Allison were killed outright, while Miss Baskins died in an ambulance en route to a hospital here. All were thrown out of the car.

W. C. Carlisle, a farmer living near the scene of the accident, brought the bodies of Baskins and Miss Allison to Benton. They are being held at the Sims undertaking parlor.

Miss Leola Allison was reported to have shown marked improvement at the hospital and probably will recover. However, the full extent of her injuries had not been determined.

Baskins was the son of William ("Billie") Baskins of Casa, a well known Perry county farmer.

The Misses Allison were daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Allison of Morrilton.

J. P. Sims, Saline county coroner, conducted an inquest and returned a verdict of unavoidable accident.

Employment Gain Shown Last Month

Fresh Encouragement in Relief Results From Announcement

WASHINGTON.—(P)—A slight but gratifying gain in employment Tuesday brought fresh encouragement to federal relief officials as they pressed on with a nation wide campaign for funds to alleviate cold weather distress.

Meanwhile, the unemployment relief organization created by President Hoover rejected the farm board's offer to furnish it wheat and cotton at current quotations. Such purchases it was announced, lie outside the group's

As Al Heard Guilty Verdict

You can guess what is running through his mind! Al Capone, Chicago gang lord, is shown above as he emerged from court after having heard the guilty verdict returned by a federal court jury in Chicago which heard charges of income tax frauds against him. Capone was found guilty on five counts and now faces the penitentiary. Note the dazed expression.

Report on Bribery Charges Concluded

Accused Men Under Bond of $3,000 Each for Alleged Violation

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—The house committee which investigated charges of attempted bribery of legislators, reported to the house Wednesday "That since this extraordinary session convened, a conspiracy and determined effort has been made to prevent a thorough and comprehensive audit of the state highway department."

The report, which the house accepted, reviewed the testimony of witnesses as to the guilt of Hearley Fisher of Morrilton and O. H. Hoffman of Russellville, "is the testimony of J. W. Danley and G. M. Permenter," house members who accused the two men of offering them bribes, charging they were offered $50 each by the two men named to vote for an adjournment of the special session without the enactment of the highway audit bill.

Both of the accused men were arrested on charges of attempted bribery and are at liberty under $3,000 bonds.

4-H Club of Howard County to Celebrate

NASHVILLE, Ark.—Arrangements have been made here for a 4-H Achievement Day on November 7.

Every 4-H club member in Howard county has been urged to attend the program on that day. A local jewelry firm has loaned the 4-H members a radio, and the boys and girls will listen to the national 4-H club program broadcast from Washington.

Little Town of Calion Resumes Old Importance

River Traffic to New Orleans Has Been More Active This Season Than for Many Years—Cotton Coming From South Arkansas and North Louisiana

EL DORADO.—With 10,000 bales already shipped and the total expected to reach close to 60,000 bales this season, the river port at Calion, Ouachita river town 13 miles northeast of here, site of a busy terminal in the old days, promises to resume its former prestige as a cotton concentration point.

For weeks the huge warehouse of Alphon-Thompson Cotton company, El Dorado buyers, located at the river front, has been a beehive of activity as great barges from New Orleans are loaded out for the Crescent City.

Shipments started two weeks ago and a total of approximately 10,000 bales have been sent downstream. J. H. Alphon, member of the cotton firm estimates about 60,000 bales will be shipped before the season closes.

Between 700 and 1000 bales are received each day at the warehouse, each truck bringing an average of 20 bales. Specially constructed trailer bodies are being used, and a big vehicle with the poles piled 15 to 20 feet high whizzing along the highways is a familiar sight. The cotton trucks arrive over highway No. 115, leading south from Hampton through Calion and to El Dorado. At Hampton this road connects with the Camden-Monitello road, and at El Dorado with three god highways.

Coming from as far west as Texas and Hope, on the north from Sheridan and Pine Bluff, on the east from Star City and Warren and on the south from the Louisiana line, the staple is arriving from a wide territory. Some of the towns shipping

Maximum Fee to Weigher 10 Cents

Amount Per Bale Fixed by Law, Attorney General Holds

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—Attorney General Tuesday ruled it is illegal to charge more than 10 cents a bale for weighing cotton, and public weighers appointed by towns and cities are allowed to charge only five cents a bale in October, November, December and January and 10 cents a bale in other months.

The opinion was prepared by Robert F. Smith, assistant attorney general, for W. W. Milwee of Horatio. Al though a ruling on that point was not requested, Smith said it is illegal to weigh cotton after dark.

The attorney general also ruled that school districts have no authority to take out policies in mutual insurance companies. The opinion was prepared by John H. Caldwell, assistant attorney general, on request of J. J. Yarbrough, county superintendent of Craighead county, who asked if he is authorized to countersign school warrants drawn in payment of a policy taken out by a school district.

It was reported that some private cotton weighers have been charging as high as 25 cents a bale for weighing cotton.

Senate Audit Bill Passed By House Early Wednesday

Deadlock Between Two Legislative Branches Is Broken

DR. SMITH SPEAKER

Is of Opinion Next Governor Will Be New in State Politics

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—Without a dissenting vote the House Wednesday passed the Senate highway audit bill, thus ending the long deadlock between the legislative branches and completing two pieces of legislation for which the special session was called.

The vote on the compromise measure, drafted over the past week-end by a joint conference committee of the Senate and House was 91 to 0.

There was no debate, but before the roll was called several members paid tribute to house members on the conference committee.

Dr. Morgan Smith, of Pulaski county, one of the leaders against all previous bills, declared that while the bill was not perfect, "it is the best we can get." Referring to the political aspects of the audit question, Dr. Smith expressed an opinion that the next governor of Arkansas would be a man "drafted from the people" and brand new to state politics.

Emerson Robbery Suspects Caught

Two Held at El Dorado Following Recovery of Unopened Safe

EL DORADO.—Following discovery of a one-ton safe stolen Monday night from the Bank of Emerson, 36 miles west of here, Oscar Chandler and J. B. ("Fat") Ray, were placed in the Union county jail as suspects. A posse is combing the county for "several other men."

An anonymous call "tipping" the Union county sheriff's office off on an alleged liquor delivery into El Dorado led deputies to an abandoned truck seven miles west of here early Tuesday morning.

An hour later Sheriff C. B. Fincher of Columbia county notified Union county officers that the Bank of Emerson had been robbed by bandits who severed telephone and electric light wires in the town, tore down the front door to the bank and hauled away the safe, containing $1,100 in a truck.

Fincher was notified of the mysterious phone call and the abandoned truck. He met Sheriff John Harmon on the Magnolia highway and impounded the truck about 300 yards from the highway and found the safe, unopened, in a clump of bushes. No attempt had been made to open the safe, officers said.

It later was discovered that a truck had been rented from a Smackover auto agency and deputies said that the imprint of the heavy safe was noticeable on the bed of the truck.

Sheriff Fincher and Union county deputies arrested Oscar Chandler in El Dorado. He denied knowledge of the robbery, but was placed in jail and had not made bond late Tuesday night. J. B. Ray at Smackover and placed him in a separate cell. He said he knew nothing of the robbery. "I've been arrested for everything else, but never for bank robbery," he told deputies.

Sheriff Fincher returned the safe, of steel construction three feet square to the Emerson bank Tuesday night. Deputies said that to remove the safe from the bank more than half dozen men would have been necessary. Several officers expressed confidence of making several more arrests. Several groups of deputies are combing the oil field area in search of men they believe connected with the robbery.

Chandler and Ray are well known to south Arkansas police as former operators of oil field resorts. Chandler now is facing trial in federal court on a liquor violation charge.

Deputies said they had good descriptions of the men seen in the truck which is believed to have been used to haul away the safe.

Dark Moment As Tribute to Edison

Hoover Would Impress Americans With Value of Electric Light

Lights To Dim at 9 P. M. Lights of the Hope Water & Light plant system will be dimmed at 9 p. m. Wednesday for one minute, in respect to the late Thomas A. Edison, electrical genius. Manager George Sonderfur announced in behalf of the water and light plant committee.

"Every electric light in the city will carry out this one-minute memorial to the discoverer of the incandescent lamp."

WASHINGTON.—(P)—A nation plunged in darkness for one minute Wednesday night is President Hoover's suggestion for a tribute to Thomas Alva Edison, "lighter of the world's lamps."

The chief executive will not be able to attend the funeral.

The country-wide ceremony darkness is planned to present a living picture of more than 120,000,000 people robbed for a moment of the fruit of Edison's work.

Mr. Hoover set the minute for lights out in the nation at 7 o'clock Pacific Time, 8 o'clock Mountain time, 9 o'clock Central Time and 10 o'clock Eastern Time.

Mrs. Hoover will represent the White House family at services for the inventor.

Should the chief executive wish for a lightless minute be followed, few individuals would not join in the unique eulogy. It would reach across to Hollywood and into almost every home between.

"This demonstration of the dependence of the country upon electrical current for its life and health," Mr. Hoover said, "is in itself a monument to Mr. Edison's genius."

Masked Men Stop Church Services

"Captain" Warns New Hope Audience Law and Order Must Prevail

MELBORNE.—At New Hope church, eight miles southeast of here, Sunday night a group of 20 masked and robed men surrounded the house, took charge of the meeting. The "captain" entered the house alone and walked to the pulpit. E. E. Reid, the community school teacher, was leading the singing. The masked man rapped a sixshooter on the table and ordered that the house come to order. He then handed a letter to Reid and ordered him to read it to the audience.

Reid refused, saying that he did not want to have any connection with such business. But when the "captain" punched him in the sides with the pistol he began to read. The letter contained several pages. When the reading was completed the men

J. P. Court Trials Are Knocked Out in DeRoan Only

All Cases in DeRoan Will Be Heard by Municipal Judge

CURBS FEE SYSTEM

City Council Also Buys Dumping Ground—Will Oil Third Street

Hope went under the rule of municipal court Tuesday night when the city council unanimously passed an ordinance enforcing the state law which authorizes cities of the first class to convert police and justice of the peace courts within the city township into one municipal tribunal.

The municipal court destroyed the justice of the peace trials in DeRoan township, but leaves undisturbed the justice offices in the other 11 townships of the county.

Payment of costs and fines levied in the municipal court will be either the city or county, depending on whether the prosecution is brought by city or county officers.

Gentry is Judge The office of municipal judge was filled by U. A. Gentry, a practicing attorney as required by law, at the city election last spring. He will draw $1,500 salary, to be paid equally by the city and county, and will have one clerk, drawing a salary of $800 also to be borne equally by the city and county.

The establishment of the municipal court will provide a tribunal for hearing of all minor court cases and preliminary trials before a magistrate drawing a regular salary, and having no financial interest in fines and costs to be levied in the event of a conviction.

The Arkansas municipal court law of 1927 was adopted in response to the demands surrounding justice of the peace courts in this American state where prisoners were arraigned, fined or jailed by magistrates whose livelihood depended upon civil suits or on private property.

The state law of 1927 applied only to cities above 9,300 population, but it was amended in 1928 to affect cities of 6,000 population.

Dumping Ground Bought At its meeting Tuesday night, the city council also authorized the purchase of 20 acres from Waddle Brothers, lying two miles west of the city for a municipal dumping ground. Purchase of the property had been under consideration for several months—and with the establishing of an adequate field there will be heavy restrictions laid against the dumping of refuse along city streets, highways or on private property.

The council authorized the oiling of the gravel section of highway No. 61 inside the city from the state paving on the west corporation line to the city paving at Third and Washington. This will lay the dust and improve traffic conditions on the west side, where through tourists are appearing in ever-increasing numbers.

Bond Issue Loses In Union County

Measure Is Defeated by Four to One Vote in Special Election

EL DORADO.—(P)—Union county voters, in a special election Tuesday, overwhelmingly defeated a proposal to refinance their $417,500 county debt by floating a $300,000 bond issue.

The vote was nearly four to one against the plan. With only three precincts missing, the vote was 1,593 to 449 against the proposal. The vote in El Dorado was 474 against and 218 for the plan.

With a county tax assessment reduction of $5,000,000 this year, county officials say there will be insufficient funds to pay constitutional expenses and the courthouse installment of $60,000. The bond issue would have reduced the annual payments on the courthouse debt to $20,000.

County Judge J. G. Ragsdale said defeat of the proposal meant elimination of the county health unit, the services of farm and home demonstration agents, pauper relief and the support of 30 patients at the state tuberculosis sanatorium at Booneville.

Can't Leave Civilization

THAT Florida chap who set out to spend a year on his own in the wilderness—accompanied, so to speak, only by a set of false teeth and a pair of glasses—must be thinking things these days about the encroachments of civilization on the great open spaces.

This man, as you may remember, built a little hut in the wilds and tried to prove that a civilized man could go back to nature and make a go of it. For about a year everything went fine; but at last he landed in jail, because he had dined on peach eggs from a federally-protected rookery somewhere along the beach.

This exploit may prove that a man can do very well without any of the tools or comforts of modern society. But it also proves that it is almost impossible for the ordinary man to get out of touch with civilization, no matter how hard he may try or how far he may go; and that fact may help to explain a good part of the subconscious discontent with which all of us, now and then, look around on our environment.

For there is in the land a growing feeling that the world is too much with us. Like Wordsworth, people are wondering if the eternal round of getting and spending isn't a little bit more exacting than it need be. The lot of the un-tutored savage in his primitive hut looks, occasionally, like something rather good.

But there isn't, really, any escape. The Florida man made a very good stab at it, but even the birds' nests that supplied him with food were under care of Uncle Sam, and to feed himself with his bare hands in a remote solitude he had to break a federal law; and the rest of us may get what comfort we can out of the thought that we knew it all along.

So, it seems, we have to make the best of it where we are. We cannot get away. We, and our children, and our children's children shall have to put up with crowds, and the noise of crowds, and confusion, and the unceasing activity of millions of energetic neighbors; and somehow, from our own resources, we must find those values which other men find in solitude, along the lonely trains that led through silent forests to empty beaches along the sea.

Fingers Point to Depression's End

WHILE nobody has yet been able to predict accurately the exact time at which a depression will begin or end, the fact that prosperity and depression are recurring phenomena is not open to question.

If statisticians can't forecast accurately the time schedule of the business cycle, we certainly can identify the conditions which precede a change.

William L. Chenery, editor of Collier's Weekly, sees many statistical fingers pointing clearly to the approaching end of depression. He sums them up as follows:

"Too high prices always lead to a depression. Too low prices always precede a period of prosperity. Prices now and for months past have been too low. That we are at the eve of a resumption of business prosperity is as certain therefore as anything in human affairs.

"We have other kinds of trouble—epidemics of disease, for example. Influenza and infantile paralysis wreak their havoc. Where disease is concerned we apply the scientific method. Our approach to the epidemic problem is rational.

"In contrast we prefer not to think about depressions, which are symptoms of economic maladjustment. If, however, we expended the same kind of scientific thought on isolating the causes of depressions and on quarantining ourselves against their spread as we now apply to problems of public health, we might quickly learn how to insure ourselves against these troubles.

"If experience teaches any lesson we can be certain that before very long business will again be very active. Once more farmers will be getting profitable prices for their crops.
 Reconstruction will again characterize Europe. Germany will have revived. South America will have settled down to work.

"The wheel turns up after it goes down and we shall have been carried forward."—Hot Springs New Era.

Smash! The Battle of the Century Is On!

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASA Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Hundreds of failed banks, develop ambitions to become federal post offices.

Fifty or more have been leased.
 It is estimated at the Post Office Department, but most of them are unsuitable or too expensive.

The heavy run of bank failures in the past few years has been followed by a corresponding flood of offers to rent the properties to the government. Members of Congress are often besought to put over such deals. Usually, however, the bank offered has a big vault in the center of the floor space which can't be removed feasibly or it isn't fit for handling mail in bulk. Bank buildings are generally so well constructed and located that the rental is high—and the Post Office Department is looking for low bidders.

FEW things cause such a buzzing on Capitol Hill as an attack on the old familiar practice of nepotism—which means placing relatives on the government payroll because they are relatives. Members of Congress are sensitive on this point, with considerable reason. Their secretaries and clerks, paid from a government allowance, are forever hearing about it—usually in confidential whispers. Many of them are doing the work for which a member's wife, brother, son, cousin or nephew is being paid, or fear that they may some time share the fate of those they have seen fired to make way for such a relative. Those who aren't any relation to the boss seethe with indignation at each new example of such favoritism. Lately they have been nursing copies of the current Atlantic Monthly, which carries an extensive survey of nepotism here, naming scores of names and proving that the system is widespread.

THE practice of placing a relative on the government payroll who never does any work in order to capture the money indis-rectly is ordinarily considered disgusting, but there are all degrees of nepotism and the non-relative secretaries usually condone them, when the relative employee comes to the office regularly and works efficiently. No one, for instance, criticizes blind Senator Schall of Minnesota, whose wife is his secretary as well as his reader and constant companion. There are relatives on the payroll who couldn't get as good a job elsewhere, but some members place in their offices relatives who have always worked with them and whom they believe to be as loyal and efficient as anyone they could get. Young Senator LaFollette married his secretary and Mrs.
 LaFollette, who was both efficient and fond of her job, said she was going to stay right on.
 Well, what of it?

THE government is getting out a leaflet describing six very special ways to make nice, comfortable rompers for kids—ample room for stooping and crawling, instructions about fabrics that don't collect dirt, designed to simplify the business of dressing.
 Page the Bureau of Home Economics.

The Prohibition Bureau is emphatically opposed to the practice adopted by certain gents in a favorite speakeasy of the recent American Legion convention at Detroit who discovered a prohibition agent in their midst, stripped off his clothes and de-posted him in the street completely unclothed. There used to be much agitation for putting agents, border patrolmen and other enforcers in distinctive uniform when they were shooting at motorists who thought they were bandits, but the demand has

Edison dead?
Is the human voice dead?
Has music vanished?
Are homes to be dingy at night—fall—
The rooms hushed, save for
The sputter of oil lamps,
The howl of distant locomotive,
The hooting of an owl
In the orchard.
Are distant homes to know
No golden voices—
Hear no genius play?
Shall music no more leap
From a box of rosewood?
Edison dead?
Is the homestead darkened?
Are great White Ways no more?

Yet lives and will live forever
To lighten the paths of all,
To make life easier,
To make homes more comfortable,
To lengthen lives
To lighten man's burdens
To cheer the bedridden,
To hold little children in

How Radio City Building Will Look

Here's an advance view of what is to be the world's largest building—the 66-story central unit of New York's Radio City for which contracts in excess of $50,000,000 have just been let. Three square blocks of property in mid-town Manhattan have been cleared for the huge project, and work soon is to start on the structure pictured above and on an international Music Hall and a motion picture theater. The office building, which will contain nearly 600,000 square feet of floor space more than the Empire State building, is to house the National Broadcasting Company, the Radio Corporation of America, and 27 broadcasting studios.

Chinese Told to Talk Only Their Own Tongue

NANKING.—(A)—Chinese proficient in a foreign language and fond of using it are branded as "denationalized intellectuals" by a government order prohibiting the free use of foreign tongues.

The government holds that Chinese who use foreign languages simply because they find them convenient are not patriotic. Of all the foreign languages spoken by Chinese, English is the most popular. It is the language of business in China, and one can travel into almost any section and find it in use among merchants.

Four Arrests Made in Eastern Textile Row

LAWRENCE, Mass.—(A)—Four arrests were made Tuesday in the textile strike here as a great majority of the 22,000 striking operatives continued adamant in their refusal to return to work under a 10 per cent wage cut.

The arrests were the result of alleged attempts by strikers to intimidate three of the few workers who went into the mills. Thousands of strikers marched in picket lines outside the mills, with the wool mill of the American Woolen company, and the Arlington mills, the chief points of concentration.

At the Prospect mill, a division of the American Woolen company employing only a few hundred workers in normal times, a group of children augmented the strikers picket lines, singing songs and calling words of encouragement to the other marchers.

Friends of Dr. J. R. Autrey, Columbus physician who has recently been critically ill, will rejoice to know that his condition is much improved and that he is able to be up some during each day.

Business Women's Club Hold Meeting

Anniversary of the Club Will Be Celebrated on November 3

Miss Mary Arnold, president of the Hope Business and Professional Women's Club, was hostess at the regular meeting of the organization, which was held on Tuesday evening at Barlow Hotel.

The private dining room of the hotel was gay with autumn flowers, and the dining table was centered with an exquisitely fashioned miniature Japanese garden. Place cards further emphasized the seasonal motif.

Following the serving of a delicious fried chicken dinner, Miss Arnold introduced Miss Harriet Grace Story, a young musician of much promise, who gave a group of piano selections.

She was followed by Miss Louise Knobel whose avocation metamorphosed into a vocation which has attracted nation-wide attention and her description of her works in entomology held the undivided attention of her audience which was loath to leave her conclude.

Miss Knobel said Aristotle was the first great entomologist and his followers have gradually extended the scope of human understanding of insect life until it is now taught in all high schools and colleges, with Cornell University probably stressing it more than any American school.

"Some insects are friends of man, others are his enemies. All are interesting and all are on a diet. Some insects will not eat at all unless the food which best suits their needs is provided. Some require only one article of diet, others will feed from several," said Miss Knobel.

Miss Knobel collects specimens for collectors in the United States and Canada and told of her method of obtaining them, of preservation and of preparation for shipment. She has evolved unique methods of cataloging them and said that several years may be required to fill an order, since some insects are plentiful one year and may be very scarce, or not appear at all, for several years.

"Southwest Arkansas is a virgin field for collecting," said Miss Knobel, "but to be successful in the venture, one must study, work and observe constantly. It has no lure for the laggard or the dillard. Today's work must be done today and the habits of the desired specimens fully understood, or they may pass you by and your plans be thwarted."

During the business session, which was presided over by Mrs. Frank Hicks, the name of one new member was presented and accepted and Miss Jack Porter, of Patterson's Department Store is the club's newest member.

Resolutions were offered, expressing the unanimous appreciation of the club for the splendid work done by a committee composed by Mrs. Frank Russell, Mrs. B. R. Hamra, and Miss Emma Green, who untiringly labored in putting over the recent style show at the Saenger theater, which netted a tidy sum.

The annual birthday meeting of the club will be held on the evening of November 3, with Mrs. Margaret Simms McDonald, state president, hostess. All members are urged to attend and former members and friends are invited to participate. Reservations may be made by calling Miss Lullie Allen, club treasurer.

C. F. Onstead, former Hempstead county tax assessor, is reported to be critically ill at the Josephine hospital.

This Woman Lost 64 Pounds of Fat

Mrs. H. Price of Woodside, L. I. writes: "A year ago I weighed 180 lbs. I started to take Kruschen and now I weigh 126 and never felt better in my life and what's more, I look more like 20 years old than the mother of 2 children, one 19 and the other 18. Every one of my friends say it's marvelous the way I reduced."

To lose fat with speed take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—don't miss a morning—an 85 cent bottle last 4 weeks—get it at Bryant's Drug Store or any drug store in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

Guinea Pigs in Demand As Heat Takes Big Toll

MANHATTAN, Kas.—(P)—High mortality among guinea pigs due to last summer's heat wave has brought a sharp increase in demand for guinea pigs from the Kansas State college colony. Requests have been received from institutions and laboratories in several states.

The colony of 1,500 animals kept for the study of genetics is declared to be the largest of its kind in the United States.

An adventurer has forsaken exploring and elephant hunting to enter the stock exchange. Evidently he doesn't know when he's safe.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ONE HOUR, JUPITER, wife of the millionaire automobile manufacturer, gave an engagement ring to her secretary, MARY HARKNESS, who is to marry DIRK HARKNESS, blue-blooded young lawyer.

Mary received a telephone call from her ex-boyfriend, Eddie, who said he was in trouble and must see her. The house is strictly guarded against "gate-crashers" because Mrs. Jupiter is wearing the famous Jupiter rubies.

Mary promises to Eddie to be admitted secretly. When she goes upstairs to meet him she finds Eddie, who is holding a gun and threatening to shoot her.

Mary, who is a reporter for the Star, advises her to keep silent about Eddie until he can locate the star, who has a mutual interest in the case. Mary catches Eddie in the act, trying to tell Bowen, of Eddie's supposed visit.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VII

THERE was time for a lunch tray and a nap before she must be ready to meet Dirk. He had not said so, but Mary felt that they must be going to see Eddie. Impatience made her restless, but weariness finally put her to sleep.

When Della woke her there was just time for a quick tub and into her clothes before Dirk was due to arrive.

"Gentleman to see you, Miss Harkness."

Mary looked around, surprised at the crispness and formality of the girl's tone. Bessie's mouth was tightly malicious; her nose was lifted superciliously.

"You haven't been talking to that reporter any more, have you, Bessie?" asked Mary sharply.

"They're not going to blame ME for that, Miss Mary!"

"They won't blame you, silly! It will all be explained very shortly. But you mustn't talk about it to anyone just yet. I would have spoken to you about it last night, Bessie, only I trusted to your good judgment to keep still."

The frailty of this plea was apparent to her even as she made it. Bessie's eyes shifted away.

"I don't want the police coming after me," she repeated.

Mary forced a laugh.

"They won't. Of course it was very wrong to leave the door open as you did, Bessie. Anyone might have come in and I'm terribly afraid—someone did. Oh, I'm not blaming you," she held out her hand placatingly as Bessie's eyes flashed resentfully. "I'm blaming myself for not having attended to it. I'd no business leaving it to you."

"My place was in the dining room, you know that, Miss Mary!" the girl said, accusingly. "It was Barclay's place to watch the door."

"I know that," Mary agreed, wearily. She must not give way to her fears before the girl, she remembered, and drew herself up with a reassuring smile.

"Well, it's possible we've neither of us anything to feel to blame for," she said. "After all, we don't know that anyone came in then. Not even Mr. Eddie. In fact, I don't believe he came at all."

THE maid's look of interest surprised her.

"Oh! It was Mr. Eddie you were expecting?"

"Why, yes," said Mary, wonderingly. "Why?"

"Nothing. Only—"

"Only what?"

The maid lowered her voice fearfully.

"He shouldn't ought to have come back like that," she said righteously, "not after Mr. Jupiter told him what he did."

"Why didn't you tell Inspector Kane your brother was here?" Bowen asked.

"Told him? Mr. Jupiter? When was this?"

"Last week when your brother came. You was out, and Mr. Jupiter came down to see him in the library. And Mr. Jupiter told him he was a young smart aleck that needed a lesson and he wouldn't give a penny to pay a gambler's debts."

Mary leaned weakly against the dressing-table.

"Eddie was here, and I didn't know it? What else—did they say?"

"I think he wanted to borrow a lot of money. Oh, a lot of money. But Mr. Jupiter told him he was a disgrace to his sister, and to go out and earn it like a man. And he told him he was headed for a gambler's grave if he went on as he was doing, and not to show his face here again. Your brother was just going, and he called him back and said, 'For your sister's sake, I'll give you a job.'"

Bessie waited to her subject, inspired by the impression she was creating on the girl she disliked. "Perhaps I shouldn't ought to tell you—"

Mary faltered. "What did Eddie say?"

"Oh, he didn't say much—he just looked at him. And he said, 'No, thank you, I might have known you wouldn't understand.' I felt sorry for the kid, honest! He looked—sick, and he stood so stiff and straight. I let him out—it was Spence's day off and he was at the pictures. He stood outside the door a minute—honest, I thought he was gonna cry. And then he went away."

SHE waited, but there was no appreciative response from her audience. Mary was staring past her dazedly into the face of a deeper humiliation than she had ever known.

"So you see," the maid finished, "he didn't ought to have come back like that. I wouldn't ever have said a word, if I'd known."

"You've told Mr. Jupiter, then?"

"Not him. The reporter, Wall, he asked me," she bridled virtuously, "and what could I say?"

"You might have said nothing."

Mary thought but she was too occupied with this new phase of things to reproach the girl. After all, one had only to glimpse that pretty, shallow face to know that loyalty was not in her. And technically she was perfectly in the right.

"I wasn't going to have them blaming ME!" Bessie repeated by way of excuse.

Mary waved her away, and with a defiant swirl of trim gray skirts she left the room.

Mr. Jupiter was having his post-lunch nap and there was no time to see him anyway. It was nearly three by her wrist-watch and Dirk was waiting. "She hurried down the stairs."

But the man who rose from a half-sitting, half-reclining position in the big armchair by the library fire was not Dirk. It was the Star reporter, Bowen.

Mary turned to go, but he halted her with a word.

"Please, Miss Harkness—don't go. I must see you for a minute."

Mary looked about uncertainly for Dirk. He must be here somewhere—or was this the "gentleman to see you," whom Bessie had announced?

"I'm sorry, I can't talk to you. I'm going out. And besides," she bit her lips to still their tell-tale trembling, and her voice broke, "I'm too upset."

Bowen had reached her side with agility remarkable in a man of his generally rotund appearance. So far as fact would permit, he had placed himself between her and the door, and cut off her retreat. It was presumption, but this was a big story and he wouldn't afford to fail.

"I know I must seem a callous brute," he said, "asking you questions just at this time. But in the very nature of things, you know, news can't wait. And there's something that you and no one else, can tell me—"

MARY said resignedly, "I suppose you mean about my brother."

And could not resist adding, "I should have thought your interviews with the servants would have given you all the material you need."

"Let's get down to business, Miss Harkness. Why didn't you tell Inspector Kane that your brother was here last night?"

"Because," Mary retorted, "I don't know that he was. And neither does anyone else."

"You expected him, though?"

"Yes. He telephoned me about half after 12 that he was in trouble, and must see me at once. The maid should have let him in. You understand that was necessary, because no one was being admitted except invited guests. But she was busy, and she carelessly left the door unlocked. No one came, or went, that we know of. I looked the door again myself, after I came down from—up there."

"But someone might have come and gone, you admit that. And it might have been your brother. And during that time—how long was it?—about 20 minutes altogether—Mrs. Jupiter was robbed and killed."

"Yes. But Eddie had nothing to do with it. I'm sure of that as I am of God." Their eyes met and held. "You believe me, don't you?"

Before the sincerity in the girl's gray eyes, Bowen found himself saying "Yes," and meaning it.

"You won't put anything in your paper about it, will you?"

Bowen hesitated, but only for a minute. "I have to, Miss Harkness. There was real regret in his voice."

"You couldn't wait just to tell me my brother and find out what he knows?"

"This afternoon. Now. As soon as Mr. Ruyter comes." She looked at her wrist watch. Dirk had not come, and it was long past the hour! He was not in the house, evidently; worriedly, she took up the telephone, and called his home.

"The newspaperman's zeal for a beat began to gleam in Bowen's eyes. The spell that beauty in distress had cast over him for the moment abated before the thrilling realization that the biggest story in years was in reach of his hand. Lovely this girl might be, and ever so innocent, but her brother was a red-handed murderer, if ever there was one, according to his way of thinking."

"May I go with you?" he asked, eagerly. "Whatever your brother's story is, it must be told some time, and if I could get to him first—"

But Mary was not listening; she was waiting tensely while a maid went to call Dirk to the telephone. Presently a woman's tones came drifting over the wire. Mrs. Ruyter's.

"Oh, Mary," she said, languidly, "Dirk asked me to call him, but the poor boy is sleeping so soundly! I hadn't the heart to wake him. Can't it wait awhile, whatever it is?"

Use Your Head, Donie

DONIE BUSH, your managing friend with the fiery temper, is quoted as saying, "I'm glad that we won for the sake of the South Side," following the victory of his White Sox over the Cubs in the Chicago city championship.

I can't help but think that Donie is just a little bit glad for himself, too. If he's going out job hunting one of these days, he'll need his clippings telling the result of the Chicago baseball war. But for gosh sakes, Donie, don't show 'em the final standing of the American League race!

Landie's Pinch-Hitter

THERE are quite a few people left who still think a display of spunk in baseball is not harmful to the game. Apparently Judge W. H. Bramham of Chicago is one of them.

Judge Bramham presided over the Chicago city series in the absence of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, who was taking his bows at the world series. It was his decision that let Catcher Grube of the White Sox off with a fine after his attack on Umpire Hildebrand and his subsequent scuffle with pacifists from both clubs.

Green Bay Again

IT has been called to my attention that there seems to be no end to the supremacy the Green Bay Packers' professional eleven has exercised over the remaining teams in the National pro football circuit. And come to think of it, those Packers do seem to have a corner on professional grid titles. Whether they can win another this season is something else, but they have jumped into the lead at the start and seem to be going places.

Some of the Packers have quite familiar names. I seem to recall that Dilweg, Nash and Gantenbein were quite some shakes as collegiate players for Marquette, Georgia and Wisconsin, respectively, a few seasons ago. Don Carlos and Jug Earpe, centers, used to work at Drake and Monmouth, if my memory isn't fooling me. Then there is a familiarity about some of those other names like Red Slight, Red

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

THE Finnish name of Jarvinen is likely to be prominently displayed in accounts of the Olympic games in Los Angeles next summer. Four brothers of that name are coming over for the games. They are sons of W. Jarvinen, first son of Finland to capture an Olympic championship. Old Pop Jarvinen won the Greek style discus throw at Athens 25 years ago. His boys are named Akilles, Matti, Kalle and Esko. Akilles is a decathlon champion. Matti, who wears specs and was a weakling as a youngster, is a javelin throwing star. Kalle excels at putting the shot. Esko, the youngest, prominently known as a crack ski-jumper, also is a topnotch performer in the broad jump and hop, step and jump.

Dunn, Bo Molendo, Hank Bruder and Johnny Blood.

And Lewellen—that must be the same Verne Lewellen who played for Nebraska at least a dozen years ago. He ought to have a son almost old enough to play with the Packers.

Syracuse Shy Reserves

VIC HANSON, an All-America end a few years ago, seems to be having his same old troubles at Syracuse again this football season. Vic can put a swell team of eleven men on the field, but his reserves are so weak that the Orangemen probably won't get very far.

Hanson has one nifty pair of ends in Captain Ellert and Stoneberg, young men who have flanked the same teams together through prep school and college. The first team tackles, Newton and Lombardi, are good enough, too. Guard substitutes of 1930 have assumed command of the varsity posts this year and another sub, Stark, is doing well at center where Berner starred a year ago. Hanson also has class in his backfield, so long as Cramer, Moran, Frank and Fishel escape injury.

U. of A. and L. S. U. Football Game to Draw Big Crowd at Fair

SHREVEPORT, La.—Football enthusiasts will be gratified to the fullest extent at the Louisiana State Fair which opens October 24 and runs through November 1.

The football scheduled is arranged with the L. S. U.-Arkansas game for Saturday October 24 and the Texas A. & M. Centenary game for Saturday October 31. Both of these gridiron contests stage the Southwestern football season in this section. The Tiger-Razorback game which has been the headline for more than a quarter of a century at the State Fair where these colleges have fought out their differences is certain to draw their usual crowd which will fill the State Fair Stadium to capacity. Centenary-Texas A. & M. will also draw a tremendous crowd as both colleges are well supported in this territory. Arrangements have been made for the entire cadet corps together of 2500 students with the 110 piece Cadet band to operate on the field. Any one who has ever witnessed a Cadet parade on a football field can imagine how impressive such a parade will be.

Several other games are also booked among which is the Southern vs. Wiley College game to be played Monday, October 26. This is also an unusual clash and has proven quite popular to football fans.

Center Point

A birthday dinner was given last Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Ode Taylor in honor of Ode Taylor and Cannon Aslin. Those attending and enjoying the day very much were: Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Davis and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Laster and children of Shover Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kennedy and children, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Aslin and son.

Mrs. J. S. Bright is visiting her sister, Mrs. Richards and aunt Rachel Arnold, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Abbott and little daughter visited Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Tunstall Sunday.

Those attending the funeral of John Bright last week at Shover Springs were: Mr. and Mrs. Ode Taylor and children, Preston and Francis, Mr. and Mrs. Aslin, Mrs. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Beckham and little son Billie Winn.

Mrs. S. V. Abbott has returned to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wiggins after several weeks visit with her son Mr. and Mrs. Walter Abbott.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wiggins are the parents of a daughter, born October 14.

Appeal of Brothers to Be Viewed in December

SPRINGFIELD.—(P)—Leo V. Brothers' appeal from conviction for the killing of Alfred J. Lingle, Chicago newspaper reporter, probably will be decided by a decision of the state supreme court in December, it was reported Tuesday.

Laborer's Daughter to Sing in Opera

Serafina di Leo was the daughter of an immigrant laborer in New Jersey when Mine. Giovanni Martelli, wife of the noted opera star, sent her back to Italy to receive voice training. Now Miss di Leo, as you see her here in New York giving singing lessons to her 5-year-old sister Geraldine, holds a contract to appear with the Chicago Opera Company this season.

Cotton Filling Up Boyett Warehouse

Union Compress Diverting Wagon Shipments to Uptown Point

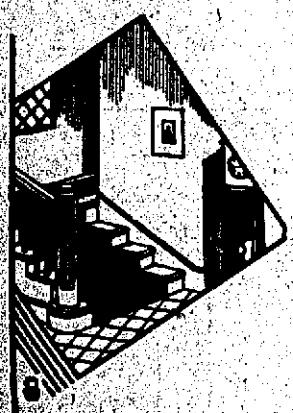

For the first time in several years cotton is filling up the Ruff Boyett warehouse on Walnut street, where the Union Compress & Warehouse Co. is diverting all its wagon and truck cotton.

Starting last Tuesday the compress company announced that wagon and truck cotton would be received and weighed at the Boyett warehouse instead of the main compress plant, owing to the congestion at the latter point.

Cotton receipts slowed up temporarily Tuesday when a total of 678 bales were reported, boosting the season's total to 31,882 bales, against 32,000 bales for all of last season. The compress firm expects to receive about 15,000 bales here this season.

Housekeeping Has Become Home-Making

Thanks to modern inventions, especially those of the late Thomas A. Edison, your electric service becomes almost human, when used through electric appliances. These conveniences make every household, "job" a joy—quickly—cleanly—conveniently.

The housekeeper of today is no longer home-bound. She has become a home-maker, with countless leisure hours added to her day through the use of electricity. Electrical servants are instantly punctual, dependable as the sunrise, and especially in Hope, quite economical. Make full use of them!

Local Cotton Oil Mill Running On 24-Hour Shift This Season

Temple Company Manufactures By-Products of Cotton

Behind the scenes of a big oil mill is a strange story—how men get food and feed and bedding out of the myriad tiny seeds that the country gins patiently comb out of King Cotton's long coat.

Here in Hope the local plant of the Temple Cotton Oil company is running 24 hours a day, employing 55 men, processing cottonseed for many of its byproducts.

From 85 to 100 products come out of cotton oil mills and their allied industries. The list ranges from livestock feed, bedding and rayon, to salad oils and shortening which are used in the daintiest kitchens of the land.

When cottonseed reaches the Temple oil mill in Hope it is first unloaded at the seed-house, where it is blown through a sand and boll reel, removing most of the debris that comes in from the gins. The seed next goes to the lint-room, where it is delinted; and to the huller, where the seed hull is broken open. A separating machine threshes the seed loose from broken hulls until the mill finally has the seed stripped down to its meat.

This goes to the giant coker, where the seed is boiled down into big oily slabs. The slabs are run through a press; the oil is squeezed out for one byproduct, and the remaining slab becomes "slab cake," a well-known livestock feed, sometimes shipped just as it is, but generally ground up into cottonseed meal.

The four products at the local mill are: hulls, livestock feed; lint, which is used in the manufacture of bedding and rayon; meal or cake, another livestock feed; and oil, which in its crude form is shipped to vegetable oil refineries to be made into salad dressing, shortening, and many other products. Within the high walls of the Temple Cotton Oil plant the mechanical equipment is gigantic. Automatic conveyors pick up the cleaned seed in the separate seed-house and whisk it across the railroad tracks to the top floor of the main mill. Here it is fed down through long assembly lines which wind up in the cooking vat on the ground floor.

Somewhere along the way is a fine-toothed cotton gin which picks up the fiber that the regular gins have missed. Going through the mill you will see a good-sized reel of cotton accumulating behind each gin. Pretty soon a mill-hand will come along, strip the reels of their cotton, carry it downstairs and put it in a regulation bale. It isn't real cotton as we know it, for it has no tensile strength, but it is used as filler in mattresses.

As the cottonseed pours down the runways from one machine to another, it is intercepted by a huge cylinder trap which is an automatic weighing machine. Every time this scale catches 2,000 pounds of cottonseed it dumps its load and registers another ton. At the end of the day the mill-hands look at the registrars and calculate the day's work.

B. L. Kaufman is manager of the Hope mill.

The Temple Cotton Oil company succeeded several years ago to ownership of the properties of the United Oil company, a concern founded by W. Y. Foster, of this city. The Temple company is now headed by T. L. L. Templeton, of Texarkana, as president.

It operates mills at Ashdown, Hope and Arkadelphia; and has two derrick mills at Little Rock and Idabel, Okla., which, however, are now operated as seed-buying stations.

Jute Growers Protest Change to Cotton Twine

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A protest was filed Tuesday with the Postoffice Department against use of cotton instead of jute twine.

Representative Granfield, Democrat, Massachusetts, said the Ludlow Association of Ludlow, Mass., had supplied the department with 3,000,000 pounds of jute annually of late years. He said the department recently called for bids on cotton twine without permitting the jute twine industry to submit bids.

"While Secretary Hyde is attempting to increase the consumption of cotton," he continued, "the rank discrimination of the Postoffice Department merely would rob Peter to pay Paul."

Granfield said 80 men in the town of Ludlow with a population of 8,000 would be thrown out of work if cotton twine is adopted by the Postoffice Department.

Howard Co. Expects to Exceed Red Cross Quota

NASHVILLE.—Chairman of the Red Cross Roll Call in Howard county believe that the county will more than reach its quota of members this year. Expectations are that the county will exceed its quota as early as the opening day of the campaign, November 11. The campaign for new members will last from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving day.

Efforts are being made for Arkansas to turn in a favorable report to the Red Cross in order that the nation will not retain its poor opinion of Arkansas' ability to recuperate from such a catastrophe as the drought which disabled that state last year. Statements just issued show that the American Red Cross received $10,894,835 in drought relief work last year, and that Arkansas received a larger part of this fund than any other state. Arkansas received $3,140,946.

Second Dirigible Ordered By Navy

18 New Planes and New Airship Hangar Contracts Awarded

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The navy Tuesday approved a contract for building the ZRS-5, sister ship of the giant airship Akron, ordered 18 new planes and let a contract for beginning work on an airship hangar in California.

The new airship is to be built by the Goodyear Zeppelin Corporation within 15 months of the time the U. S. S. Akron leaves the dock. Weather permitting, this will be Wednesday. The navy will accept the ship officially as soon as Commander Rosendahl starts her for Lakehurst. There she will be armed, equipped with planes and put in commission.

The ZRS-5 is to cost $2,450,000, about half as much as her elder sister. The difference was provided to safeguard the zeppelin company's tremendous plant investment in case the second craft was not built.

A contract was awarded the Berliner-Joyce Aircraft Corporation of Baltimore for 18 convertible observation planes costing $463,700. They are to be used either with landing gear for the aircraft carriers or with pontoons for catapulting from battleships and cruisers.

The secretary awarded contracts for the foundation of the great hangar at Sunnyvale, Cal., which will house the ZRS-5. Foundation, tracks and grading must be completed in six months by the Raymond Concrete Pile Company of New York for $181,181.

As soon as that is done the Wallace Bridge and Structural Steel Company of Seattle and Siemens-Helmerts Company, Inc. of St. Paul will begin the hangar. This is to be completed in March, 1932, the date for delivery of the airship.

The Akron now is undergoing necessary finishing touches. She is expected to report at Lakehurst on Thursday. There she will occupy the space several times taken by the Graf Zeppelin, beside the now dwarfed Los Angeles.

Auto Races Will Be Held at Shreveport

Many Speed Records Are Expected to Be Broken This Year

SHREVEPORT, La.—Speed! Speed! Speed! Dashing around the mile oval in record-breaking time, clipping seconds off of records that have stood the test for many seasons. That will be the primary object of the Auto Races to be held at the Louisiana State Fair opening October 24 and running through November 1. The races which are sanctioned by the International Motor Contest Association are to be held both Sunday afternoons of the State Fair, October 25 and November 1.

Many noted drivers will participate in the races which will provide thrills aplenty for auto race fans. Auto racing is one of the most popular features of the State Fair as it has always packed the grandstand to capacity.

Free Press Day Feted at Home of Jefferson

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va.—(AP)—Tuesday was set apart for the first observance of "Free Press Day" in the dedication of a room at Monticello, historic home of Thomas Jefferson, to the "Freedom of the Press."

Editors, legislators and educators came here to join in the dedication which was intended as gesture of defiance at modern despotism and censorship.

Speakers invited to the ceremonies included Claude G. Bowers of the New York Evening Journal and chairman of the freedom of the press committee of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation. Colonel Robert McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, was selected to preside.
